due to an increase of the international cooperation in Eastern Europe and neighboring regions, many opportunities for young water specialist are being created now. It is clear that the water related problems cannot be solved separately, without considering social, economical, political and other spheres of everyday life.

A new way of thinking and new holistic and multidisciplinary approaches are on the agenda today. The present situation and experiences from the past show that while dealing with one problem in water management many other problems should be also considered. This implies the need of close cooperation between specialists from different scientific areas to reach a really successful and sustainable improvement of the water conditions.

This YWP conference gives you an excellent chance to meet colleagues from all over the world, to share knowledge and experience, to learn new ideas and approaches related to water issues. It is a great opportunity for networking and making contacts with water professionals from different countries and different scientific fields.

In 2012 the YWP conference will focus on one of the most crucial issues in the contemporary water management – new technologies in the water sector. This topic is essential for many countries and regions of the CIS and Eastern Europe.

The International Water Association is a global network of water professionals, spanning the continuum between research and practice and covering all facets of the water cycle. Through IWA members collaborate to promote the development and implementation of innovative and effective approaches to water management. The strength of IWA lies in the professional and geographic diversity of its membership – a global mosaic of member communities – including academic researchers and research centres, utilities, consultants, regulators, industrial water users and water equipment manufacturers.

About IWA YWP Eastern Europe. IWA Young Water Professionals Programme provides a platform for young professionals and postgraduate researchers from Eastern Europe, CIS and other countries to present their work related to advances in water supply and sanitation. The technical programme of the Conference will include both platform presentations and posters (in Russian and English). The conference programme also accommodates open discussions and a series of networking and professional development activities. Social programme will include a gala dinner and a city tour.

About YWP. To fulfil the present and future needs of the water and wastewater industries a continuous development of a workforce is required which is capable in skills and strong in leadership. Young water professionals (students and professionals in the water sector under the age of 35) are the future of the water sector, and therefore the future of the International Water Association. The YWP program aims to put you in touch with other water professionals and offers practical and effective ways for those interested in a career in the water sector to follow their interests and experiences.
